ABOUT PAIGE FRASER

Paige Fraser’s story is one of vision and strength, a story that is both inspiring to all who hear it. Born and raised in the Bronx, NY, Paige began dancing when she was four years old and instantly fell in love with it, loving the focus and dedication required each day to work towards perfection. She wanted it to be her career. Yet a high school diagnosis of Scoliosis (spine curvature) and recommended surgery threatened to destroy her dreams.

Overcoming the challenges of Scoliosis and fulfilling her lifelong ambition of dancing professionally. Paige embraces what she has overcome to raise awareness about pursuing dreams and overcoming challenges. Twelve years after being diagnosed with Scoliosis, Fraser has accomplished the career in dance of which she always dreamed. She is the co-founder of The Paige Fraser Foundation; which aims to create a safe space for dancers with or without disabilities.

Paige Fraser is currently based in Chicago, IL. She has danced professionally with Ailey II, Visceral Dance Chicago, and Deeply Rooted Dance Theater. In 2016 she was featured in an INTEL commercial “Experience Amazing”. She is a Princess Grace Award recipient (2016) and Dance Magazine’s “25 to Watch” (2017). Theatre Credits: West Side Story (Lyric Opera) and The Lion King National Tour.
